

THE DIAMOND APPROACH[®]

THE FLAME FOR TRUTH OPEN WEEKEND WITH DOMINIC LIBER

Why are you here? What's it about? What really matters to you? Fundamental questions can be unsettling. They are living, personal questions, that you cannot answer simply with your mind. These questions can burn and become a flame, a palpable presence drawing you towards finding and living what is truly satisfying for you.

In this week-end we will explore the inner flame. Using personal inquiry, presence and meditation, you will have a chance to explore directly how this flame appears in your own experience. By understanding where and how you tend to put it out, you may begin freeing the flame to reveal more of your personal truth.

A life with no fundamental questioning is a life lived according to formulas, according to what one has heard from others. But why should you believe what others tell you about life?
