²⁾ Other Ridhwan School Amounts includes an estimate of the revenue collected directly by the teachers based on the portion paid to Ridhwan Foundation. The full amount is also shown as an expense and includes all costs borne by the teachers, including salaries, rent, and any other program costs.

Notes on Ridhwan School Worldwide Financial Statements – 2022

Results for the two legal entities—Ridhwan Foundation and Friends of Ridhwan (FOR)—individually appear in the first two columns. Because many teaching activities are organized autonomously by teachers, a large part of student tuition does not flow through the central organization although all teachers pay a portion of their tuition revenue to the Ridhwan Foundation to support its core costs. The income and expenses included in the Ridhwan School Worldwide view represent the teaching activities of all ordained Ridhwan teacher-ministers worldwide. It includes the activities of the Ridhwan Foundation (a U.S. registered 501(c)3 nonprofit), and its affiliated auxiliary fundraising organization, Friends of Ridhwan, which both support the worldwide activities of the Ridhwan School. The Ridhwan School is a network of teacher-ministers and students who are engaged in the Diamond Approach path. The Ridhwan Foundation is the legal entity that supports the functioning and availability of the Diamond Approach.

The Total Ridhwan School Worldwide view shows $17.4 million in revenue. Earned revenue was $15.9 million, or 92% of the total. $7.4 million of the $17.4 million is an estimated extrapolation from the teachers' percentages paid to the Ridhwan Foundation. Membership dues contributed an additional $654,700. Insurance paid $1.6 million for property lost in the Colorado wildfire. The remaining $1 million came from Diamond Net online courses (tuition or shared revenue from outside producers), activities based on the Diamond Approach (book talks, etc.), facilities rental fees, and AV Library fees.

Contributed revenue of $1.4 million was split between unrestricted donations (55%) and restricted income (45%). 24% of restricted donations are for scholarship funds.

Total worldwide expenses were $14.7 million. Of this, $13.2 million (89%) was spent on program activities, $1.5 million on core costs /general administration (10%), and $100,500 (1%) on fundraising activities.

Membership dues covered about 44% of the core costs (general administration) of running the Ridhwan organization. The rest is covered by the percentages paid from worldwide teaching activities and unrestricted donations.

Ridhwan's Statement of Financial Position shows assets and liabilities. The largest asset is the Ridhwan Center property in California. Insurance proceeds were used to purchase a property in Colorado after the previous one was destroyed by wildfire. Cash accounts include the board-restricted emergency reserve, the permanently restricted endowment, and scholarship funds. Temporarily restricted funds are donated or saved for specific purposes, including support for teacher training, life service and support for members with hardship, book editing and publication, building improvements, and other specific initiatives.
